

The Gang Show was created in 1932, the brainchild of an anonymous 'Holborn Rover' who was later revealed as a certain Ralph Reader. His name was to become synonymous with Scout Gang Shows everywhere. The cast received no payment. Neither, throughout the three months of rehearsal and two weeks of actual performances, were they paid expenses for meals or travel. To be chosen for the Show was its own reward.

In 1990, Milton Keynes was to become one of the many towns and cities across the world to host it's own annual Gang Show. A mix of singing, dance and acting, the Show has since gone from strength to strength, with this year seeing one of the largest casts on the stage for us.

Of course, in recent years it's not just the Scouts but the Guides aswell that have come to tread the boards with us. So for our 19th year, we'd like to welcome you to our show and say...

Come and ride the crest of a wave!
